STUDENT PRODUCTIONS AT NEWTV
by Melinda Garfield, Production Services Manager

There are many advantages to being a student or an intern at NewTV. Besides access to the latest HD equipment, students have the opportunity to create short or feature films, documentaries, music videos and PSAs they can use to help them get into college or the workforce. This past year NewTV staff has helped students produce four short films, one feature and one music video. The Bad Day, a short student film directed and edited by Salome Tkebuchava and written by YoElena Tkebuchava, won a student Emmy® Award in the Best High School Long Form-Fiction category. Shelby Levinson, a Northeastern University Co-op intern, produced a short titled The Girl from the Third Floor. Her experience with NewTV has helped her land a new co-op internship in Los Angeles this summer! Former intern Alexi Reibman directed the music video of a song about teen suicide, “Promise Tomorrow,” by the local rap group No Trace, which was featured in the Boston Globe. Currently interns and student producers are working together to execute five more short films. Under the leadership of NewTV’s talented staff, students are able to achieve the greatest outcome from their visions and will stand above their peers as they grow in the industry.

THE FOLKLORIST WINS ITS THIRD EMMY®!
by Andrew Eldridge, Co-Director of Original Programming

The Folklorist received its third Boston/New England Emmy® Award from the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences. The show won for Outstanding Historical/Cultural/Program/Special — an especially gratifying honor, as it validates the quality of the program and recognizes the hard work of the entire cast and crew. In addition to that win, The Folklorist also received four Emmy nominations, four Communicator Awards and five Telly Awards this year.

It’s been a long journey for NewTV's Original Programming Department since its inception in 2011, with increases in programming each year. This past year, seven episodes of The Folklorist were produced, with 27 feature segments, 25 “Campfire” segments, 196 actors and over 440 hours booked in the studio.

When the final episode of season one aired this past December, we set to work on a new task — distribution. The Folklorist was sent to more than 500 community media centers across the country by mailing DVDs and sharing the program online. As a result, more than 250 media centers are currently airing the program. We are excited to announce that Comcast and RCN have also picked it up.

NEWTV STAFF ADDITION: JOE GAROZZO
by Shelly Kamanitz, Director of Marketing & Creative Services

We'd like to welcome Education Channel Coordinator, Joe Garozzo, to the NewTV team. Joe's interest in television production and community media started in middle school, producing comedy shows with his friends for Stoneham TV. Soon after, Joe was recording, commentating on and editing high school hockey and basketball games. He also produced his own shows in high school through Stoneham TV. He continued his production education at Lasell College, where he received a BA in Communications, with a concentration in TV and Radio Production. Joe was first introduced to NewTV as a senior, while taking Lasell’s TV Studio Production class with Brian Wardyga in the spring of 2014.

For the past two summers, Joe started a summer camp at Stoneham with his twin brother and his friends, teaching camera operation, improv and acting techniques to the Boys and Girls Club. Joe's leadership qualities and unique perspective as both a student and a professional videographer in community media will help inspire and motivate a new generation of students to pursue their goals both in front of and behind the camera.

Join Greg Page for a program titled “Who’s Tracking You Online? The Quiet Big Data Revolution.” Every mouse click, every keystroke and every tablet or smartphone selection that we make helps data collectors paint a picture of who we are. The digital footprints that individuals quietly and slowly create with this data trail can be useful to everyone from retailers, to health care professionals and the government.

NEWTON-WELLESLEY HOSPITAL RECOGNIZED IN PATIENT SAFETY

Designed to rate how well hospitals protect patients from accidents, errors, injuries and infections, the latest Hospital Safety Score honored Newton-Wellesley Hospital with an ‘A’ — its top grade in patient safety. The Hospital Safety Score is compiled under the guidance of the nation’s leading experts on patient safety and is administered by The Leapfrog Group, an independent industry watchdog. The Score is free to the public and designed to give consumers information they can use to protect themselves and their families when facing a hospital stay.

“The Leapfrog Group’s Hospital Safety Score rating of ‘A’ recognizes the dedication and hard work of our clinical leadership and frontline staff ensuring that NWH provides safe, high quality, patient-centered care,” said Bert Thurlo-Walsh, Director, Quality and Patient Safety, Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Newton-Wellesley Hospital has received numerous quality and patient safety awards over the years including: Triple Gold Performance Achievement from the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association; NSQIP Recognition for Exemplary Surgical Outcomes; Harvard Pilgrim Health Care Honor Roll for Clinical Quality; and BCBS of MA Blue Distinction Designation for improving health care quality.

To see how Newton-Wellesley’s score compares locally and nationally, visit the Hospital Safety Score website at hospitalsafetyscore.org.
COMMUNITY CHANNEL UPDATE
by Michael Sills, Member Services Coordinator

This summer has a lot of great things coming up to look forward to here at NewTV. First, NewTV wants to help you perfect your skills as much as possible, especially with our new editing software, Adobe Premiere Pro. We will now be offering lynda.com sessions by request to help strengthen any aspects of the program. You’ll also be seeing an expanded course offerings near the end of the summer, featuring other programs in the Adobe Creative Cloud, so keep an eye out for that. Lastly, we will be holding a screening of the HBO documentary Gasland Part 2 about fracking in the United States, along with a Skype Q&A session with director Josh Fox, very soon. There will be more information to come when it becomes available. These are just some of the many exciting things you can expect from NewTV this summer, so stay cool and get active.

THE EDUCATION CHANNEL: SUMMERTIME FUN!
by Melinda Garfield, Production Services Manager

Now that graduation is over and the kids are out of school, what better way to pass the time than watching your favorite moments from the past school year on the Education Channel? Catch your school programming Monday through Friday at 4:40pm and 7:30pm. Congratulations to Rachel Brown and Joshua Carney, this year’s recipients of the NewTV High School Scholarship. Interested in joining our growing intern team? It’s a great way for students to get hands-on experience in the field of production. Check out newtv.org/internships to find one that’s right for you. NewTV welcomes Joe Garozzo, our new Education Channel Coordinator. Joe’s bio is on page 3 of this issue, and we look forward to his contributions to the Ed Channel in the fall newsletter.

GOVERNMENT CHANNEL UPDATE
by Stephen M. Kessinger, Government Channel Coordinator

Newton’s legislative branch of municipal government is comprised of a 24-member elected Board of Aldermen, and NewTV’s series Aldermen at Work explores how those leaders make decisions. Hosted by Alderman Lisle Baker, President Emeritus, the program helps to explain the committees of the Board and relationships in working with city departments. Viewers get an in-depth perspective on the workings of committees that impact zoning, finance, services and public safety. Citizens who merely watch or attend the full Board meetings may miss much of what the Board does behind the scenes, as a comprehensive vote is taken through the “first call of committee reports.” The new programs will air daily on NewTV’s Government Channel at 6:30pm. We hope that you will find the series informative and accept the invitation to get involved in your city government!

UPDATE
by Jenn Adams, News Director

There will be some new faces on Newton News this summer — welcome to interns Ashley Davis, Nikhita Godbole and Jillian Rosa. It’s also political season, as candidates for the many state races take advantage of the warm weather to canvas neighborhoods. We’ll profile some of them so you know who you’re voting for come this fall. If you or someone you know would like to get the hands-on training including camera work, editing and reporting, consider signing up for an internship today.
