NEWTV NABS FOUR MORE EMMYS®
by Shelly Kamanitz, Director of Marketing & Creative Services

It’s time to get a new trophy case! NewTV won four additional Boston/New England Emmy Awards at the ceremony on June 2 at the Boston Marriott Copley Place. Tied within the same category of Performer/Narrator were Greg Shea, Narrator, and Jesse Seward, Performer, both for Assassin Nation: Baltimore Plot. Andrew Eldridge and former Co-Director of Original Programming Angela Harrer took home the prize for Photographer Short Form for American Ruins: Bannerman’s Castle. Assassin Nation: The Baltimore Plot also won for Historical/Cultural/Program/Special. This brings the total to 13 Emmy Awards for NewTV, an impressive achievement for the organization.

The competition was tough, and the room was packed with well-known anchors and talent from New England network affiliates and industry professionals from The Boston Globe, a variety of production companies, and more. NewTV was well represented this year with many of the staff in attendance, including Angela Harrer, who flew in from L.A. for the event, making it a festive reunion.

ANNUAL MEETING & RED CARPET AWARDS RECAP
by Jessica Leff, Digital Marketing Specialist

On April 4, NewTV held a unique event that combined the 27th Annual Meeting and the Red Carpet Awards. The studio was packed with members!

After remarks from Board President Paul Sears and Treasurer Diana Cartier, Director of Operations Steve Russo delivered the annual report. Steve summarized the activities and accomplishments of each department from last year. In 2017, 126 new members joined, NewTV produced live election-night coverage, Newton City Hall was upgraded with full HD equipment for improved meeting coverage, and Edit Suite A was outfitted with podcasting equipment — and that’s only skimming the surface. Then it was time to elect two new members to the board of directors. Errol Forde and Barry Mirrer were nominated and selected with no contest.

Once the Annual Meeting was adjourned, it was time for the Red Carpet Awards. Mount Ida College was the Community Partner of the Year. Natalie Harder of Newton South and Evyatar Gershon of Newton North were presented with NewTV’s annual scholarships. The Education Channel gave the Intern of the Year Award to Greg Camillone, and the (Continued on page 3)

Camillone also joined the NewTV table, as he had received an honorable mention for his documentary Let’s Talk Tough: The Mental Health of Athletes from the Boston/New England Student Awards for Excellence in the Long Form Non-Fiction category. This was Greg’s first film, so it was an honor for him to have been recognized by this prestigious organization. He was inspired by the evening, and NewTV was proud to have nurtured his talent and helped him reach this level. Greg will be profiled on our website, so visit newtv.org for more info.

NewTV received 17 nominations in all for its three original programs: Assassin Nation, American Ruins and Heroes Around Us. The organization has made a name for itself in the local television community, and is raising awareness of the value of high-quality, locally produced programming. Other community media stations are now a bigger presence at the Emmys and are winning as well.

Congratulations to all the Emmy nominees and winners!

COMMUNITY CHANNEL UPDATE
by Katie Duval, Director of Member Services

Spring has been very successful here at NewTV. Podcasting is such a hit that we’ve decided to add an Introduction to Adobe Audition class on July 25. This class, taught by Boston Free Radio Station Manager Heather McCormack, will help our podcasters and videographers learn how to make their audio sound perfect. We expect the class to fill up, so sign up soon. NewTV also gained national acclaim by the Alliance for Community Media. Along with winning awards for overall excellence and for our 2017 election coverage, one of our own members is sitting in the spotlight. Jay Sugarman has won Best Single Episode of an Informational Talk Show for his “Team Hoyt” episode of Innovation Showcase. We’re so happy for Jay and are proud of everything he and his crew have accomplished. Please extend a hearty congratulations when you see them around NewTV!

EDUCATION CHANNEL UPDATE
by Stephen M. Kessinger, Director of Government & Educational Media

As the school year comes to a close, we are grateful to numerous students who helped capture events and sports, and produce independent productions. These programs will rebroadcast throughout the summer while we also work to cover the City of Newton’s Heritage Festivals and children’s entertainment activities. Check out the final season of Mustang Media, produced by former students of Mount Ida College. The series provides insights into the Millennial generation and also made a tribute to the school’s legacy. The program airs on the Ed. Channel Monday through Friday at 7:30pm. Our Education Channel internships offer flexibility throughout the year with for-credit or non-credit tracks to high school and college students. All of our interns receive hands-on experience with a central project produced by each that is individually created from concept to post-production. Learn more and apply online at newtv.org/internships.

GOVERNMENT CHANNEL UPDATE
by Stephen M. Kessinger, Director of Government & Educational Media

The City of Newton’s legislative branch of municipal government is comprised of a 24-member elected city council. NewTV’s series, Councilors at Work, explores how our elected leaders make decisions. Hosted by Councilor Lisle Baker, President Emeritus, the program helps to explain the committees of the council and the relationships they forge working with city departments. Citizens who watch or attend the full council meetings may miss much of what the council does, as a comprehensive vote is taken through the first call of committee reports. Viewers will get an in-depth perspective on the workings of these committees in eight new programs that were recently produced for the current term and are airing daily on NewTV’s Government Channel at 6:30pm. We hope that you will find the series informative and follow up on the invitation to get involved in your city government!

NEWTV UPDATE
by Jenn Adams, News Director

It’s finally here! The warm weather brings lots of events to Newton, and we’re trying to cover as many as possible for Newton News. We have a few interns starting this summer: welcome to Ryan Keaveney from Connecticut School of Broadcasting, Emma Thornton from Boston College, Rachel Kennedy from Princeton University, and Isabel Cleary from the University of Maryland. High school senior Jason Waldman from Beaver Country Day School ends his internship with us in June, and Bobby Krivitsky continues his sports coverage in Newton. We’re looking forward to a great summer! If you have a story idea, please send it our way. I’m always looking for interns/volunteers throughout the year, too.
Most NewTV programs are produced by member volunteers. Members’ programs are on the Community Channel (C). Shows produced by local schools & colleges are shown on the Education Channel (E). Newton City programs are on the Government Channel (G). Additional programs are produced by NewTV Staff.
